THURSDAY HARNESS

Cambridge Te Awamutu @ Cambridge Raceway

SELECTIONS

Race One

Awohali

Donovan Bromac

Nicolas Breakspear

Awohali showed real class when winning a double here in July, and has since been freshened. You'd expect another very bold showing despite the second row draw. Donovan Bromac looked smart as a 2yo in Canterbury and has joined the Herlihy team this term. Going handy at trials without setting the world on fire, but is a bit above-average. Nicolas Breakspear came in for support on debut at Alex Park so stick with him.

Race Two

Supper Waltz Wilson

O'Sheas

Endeavor

An open event. Talented trotter Supper Waltz Wilson wasn't quite as sharp when he backed up a week apart last time, even though still handy in fifth and beaten under a length. Can go a big race off the 10m. Local trotter O'Sheas failed to step last week but go on good finish here two back when hitting the line strongly. Fitter for recent racing. Endeavor is going well and is close to grabbing a win. 1,8,10,11 all good enough to figure.

Race Three

Five Star Anvil

Badlands Bromac

Electrofyng Cullen

Five Star Anvil returns as a two-win horse as the winner of $238,000. He won the Sales Final at Addington last term. A classy young horse and should be too swift for these. Badlands Bromac impresses each time produced, that win last start was really good. He should be a big player again. Electrofyng Cullen is speedy and should go boldly fresh. Kotare Ash no forlorn hope off the ace, looked handy last term in the south.

Race Four

Extended Credit

Jason X

Lee Mer

Extended Credit has been beaten by Franco Hendrix and Pedro Carrington in his last two, and he probably doesn't meet a superior chance this time around. He looks a leader and a winner. Jason X seems the logical danger, a bit flat second up after solid fresh up second to Huff. He's the threat. Lee Mer was driven like she was Phar Lap last time and faded, no surprise there. Give another chance with a patient drive. Brookfield Tal-ent ran on okay at Auckland last week and could be worthy of a Pick6 ticket.

Race Five

Franco Hendrix

Eastwood Sapphire

Modigliani Maid

A logical Pick6 anchor here. Franco Hendrix looked the goods when quitting maidens here, then was luckless but close up at Alex Park in stronger field. This is well within range and he should win. Eastwood Sapphire took the shortcuts when fresh at Alex Park and went a handy race. A good one to lock behind the favourite in trifectas. Modigliani Maid is honest enough to be a trifecta player herself.

Race Six

Just Wicked

Huff

Conte Del Forno

Just Wicked resumes after last racing at the end of May when unplaced. Seems forward at the workouts and on what he's shown in the past you would expect a bold showing in an average field. Huff did too much work last time and couldn't match a good maiden win. He trials well here and looks an eachway chance. Conte Del Forno also enjoys this track and is honest. A must have.

Race Seven

Big Dog

Perfect Cullen

Make Our Deigh

Big Dog shouldn't have too many issues with the 30m handicap on what he's shown us in the past. A really good standing start exponent, he seems well-placed to beat these, especially if a NZ Cup start is on the agenda. Very hard to beat. Perfect Cullen was no chance behind Awesome Armbró and Changeover last week after slow start. This more to his liking and he races well here. Make Our Deigh keeps turning up with blistering performances, then average ones. If the real one turns up he'll take some stopping. Consider 3,4,12.

Race Eight

Nullabor Song

Flip N Lively

Marylne Bromac

Nullabor Song kept the golden run going when too good off the back row at Alex Park last time. They ran along up top and she swooped on them. Will possibly have to revert to leading again here, but is also very good in that role. Hard to see beaten. Flip N Lively should be a quick improver off luckless fresh up run at Alex Park. Operates well this distance and is a genuine chance. Marylne Bromac usually meets better fields than this and gets her chance to turn the form around.

FRIDAY NIGHT HARNESS

NZ Metro @ Addington Raceway

SELECTIONS

Race One

Mr Chrome

Black Mambo

Mullingar Mac

This one has been a winner waiting to happen for a little while. Mr Chrome shows all the attributes of a good horse, he stays and he sprints just as well, has gatespeed, too. Drawn to get the cash first up after a sound Methven trial win on Saturday. Black Mambo met the good 3yo's last term and did a nice job, has looked bright at workouts this time in. The logical threat. Mullingar Mac went huge after breaking when fresh up last week and will go a bold race off the mobile start. Of the remainder Leading Lavros is trialing smartly.

Race Two

Oscar

Justakiwiboy

In Like Magic

Oscar was never clear early enough at Timaru last Sunday but ran on strongly once through the gap. Should be off the markers and doing the job here. Very hard to beat. Justakiwiboy was again sound at Methven and should find this to his liking. Outside of Oscar they are not a great bunch. In Like Magic should be sharper on the all-weather track after handy but unspectacular Methven run. Can upset. Consider 1,7,13,17 in multiples.

Race Three

Move Over

Strathcullen

Johnny Bravo

Move Over couldn't keep the winning run intact when he was attacked severely in front at Rangiora last time, but fought courageously for second, nonetheless. Too classy if he strolls to the front. Strathcullen's Methven win was no fluke, he'd raced and trialed well beforehand. Not to be overlooked despite wide draw. Johnny Bravo could well be suited to this draw and can atone for defeat last time. Dudinka's Christian and Algeepie are sound threats off good draws.

Race Four

Belhelvie

Got It Seeled

Sir Clive

Belhelvie hasn't taken part in two runs back off a spell, back in the field both times and steaming home without threat. Far too good for this bunch and he should win. Got It Seeled is the danger with last crack at them. Very speedy over a furlong if saved up. Sir Clive races like a shadow of his former self and hasn't inspired this time in. Won't get a better chance to find some form, however. Of the rest add in 1,4,9.

Race Five

Tennis Ball

Rangataua Ray

Scotlynn Hamish

A top race with four very sound win chances and hard to split. Tennis Ball has trialed enormous, going really well at Rangiora and looks super good to resume. He'll give this a shake. Rangataua Ray showed his class last time at Methven and is NZ Cup nominated. He's a smart horse with genuine chance. Scotlynn Hamish back from injury let-up and in form at workouts, a must, he's very classy, as is Eric's Legend of course!!

Race Six

Speculate

Springbank Richard

Mystic Sun

Speculate again showed too much class when home comfortably here last week, holding Mystic Sun at the finish. She should be the one to beat off a lovely draw, and she can use that alley to her advantage. Stablesmates Springbank Richard and Mystic Sun should provide tough opposition. The former hit a wheel and galloped last week, which was disappointing. He's class and will be forward. 1,3,9,11 look the other threats.

Race Seven

Kardelin

Meredith Maguire

So Free

Kardelin shows good promise at the trials and should go a good race first up here. She has genuine speed at the finish, and though probably driven for one run at them, can get the money. Meredith Maguire won a workout on Saturday nicely and home in 27.7 around Motukarara. Stable always respected and she'll go well. So Free was very prominent in tidy field at Rangiora on Saturday and can figure at odds. Consider 1,3,12.

Race Eight

Mr Feelgood

Georgetown

Bondy

Mr Feelgood has trialed up nicely for the NZ Cup campaign, looking sharp, though was beaten by Nearea Franco at Ashburton in quick time. Will be very hard to bowl. Georgetown would have won last week had he stepped cleanly, but missed away in another shambles of a start. He's got the game. Bondy has struck them at the right time in winning twice and will find this tougher but still rates highly. Nearea Franco will be plunge punt after Ashburton trial but she still needs to convince me she's back to her best as her Rga trial was awful.

Race Nine

Lyalldale Invasion

Keepyaguardup

De Gaulle

Lyalldale Invasion stamped some class when he gathered them in to win well at Oamaru, that after good Addington return off a spell when beating Savona. A capable horse with genuine chance. Keepyaguardup wasn't pushed when trotting well at the workouts here a fortnight ago. A reproduction of that will take him close to victory. De Gaulle just shaded him that day and trotted soundly. A win chance on best night.

Race Ten

To Ri Archie

Barmy Army

Feels Like Magic

To Ri Archie showed undoubted talent in winning at Methven with ease and can do the same here. Will take a good one to beat him. Barmy Army was much-improved here last week after Methven defeat. He's right in with a chance. Feels Like Magic was never happy at Forbury but go again off this draw. Consider 4,7,10.
